Sir Gregor M'Gregor, the leader of the independents in South America, is the representative of a respectable and ancient family, was captain in our army in Spain, became colonel in the Spanish service, had a Spanish order of knighthood conferred upon him, and was allowed by the Prince Regent to assume the title in this country. In Spain he fought to free the country from invaders: but when he saw its present monarch reward the friends of liberty with dungeons and death, he gladly joined the party in America, who are endeavoring to emancipate themselves from the oppressions of the mother country.

His intimacy with one of the royal dukes, distinguished for his liberality and whiggish principles, is said to add to his influence with his compatriots. He left Scotland with the suitable retinue of a general, to which, as a Highlander, he thought a pipe a necessary addition. Whatever turn affairs take in the new world, it must be a proud consideration for Scotland, that Americans fought for liberty under a Scottish chieftain, and marched to battle to the sound of her native pipe. The gentleman who has given the information, adds, that sir Gregor, is not only a gentleman by birth, education and manners, but that he is also a man of considerable literary attainments, and that he took with him in his chivalrous expedition, a noble library.

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 4.

Mr. Pinckney's late Negociation.

By an arrival from Naples, the following account of the tenor and result of Mr. Pinkney's negociation has been received. Mr. Pinkney made a peremptory demand of the restitution of several of the vessels seized by Murat, or a complete indemnification for them and their cargoes. With regard to the rest, he offered to wave all claim on the part of his government, on condition that the United States should have an establishment in some convenient port in the Neapolitan territories. He particularized Messina as the most eligible, and stated, that the required establishment would comprise an hospital, a depot for naval stores, and some telegraph stations.—The Neapolitan Government, affecting not to perceive the drift of the demand couched in these terms, though it was impossible to misapprehend it, requested of Mr. P. to inform them whether the establishment was to be considered as an avowed government concern, or whether it was to be on a footing of the establishment of private individuals. Mr. P. without hesitation, intimated, that it must be regarded as a government establishment. The Neapolitan government, on receiving the explanation, rejected the demand in toto, intimating, at the same time, that there would be no objection to the agents of the United States' Government keeping naval stores in the Neapolitan dominions, on the footing of ordinary mercantile depots. The negociations, with regard to the confiscated vessels, terminated in a manner equally unsatisfactory to Mr. P.

The following petition addressed to the President of the United States, by fourteen Americans, now confined in the Spanish prisons at St. Jago de Cuba, was handed to us by a gentleman who arrived here from that Island, about 10 days since, with a request that we could publish and then transmit it to the President. Not knowing the gentleman who was the bearer of the letter, and having no evidence of the authenticity of the document, induced us to delay its publication until we could satisfy ourselves on these points. Having received such assurances touching its genuine character as we required, and having the statement which it contains verified by a subsequent arrival from the same quarter, we give it insertion with pleasure, forwarding the original as directed, to the Department of State, where we doubt not it will receive that attention to which it is entitled.

To the President of the United States

Petition of fourteen Americans now confined in the Prison of St. Jago de Cuba.

Honored Sir,

We take the liberty to inform you of our sad misfortunes confined in Cuba prison, at the inhuman mercy of the cruel Spaniards. Our first misfortunes are as follow. Our vessels being sold for the purposes of privateering, we were obliged to take passage in the Schooner Margaretta, Peter Archer, commander, bound to Jamaica. To our sorrow, after being on our passage two days the Captain brought up his Carthagenian Commission, and said he was bound on a cruize. Finding ourselves taken in this shameful manner, we concerted with each other to serve her the first opportunity. On the 2d September we captured the schooner Sophia under Spanish Colors bound to Jamaica with cattle on board; on the 3d of the same month captured a Spanish brig from the coast, with 180 negroes on board—The Captain and owner ransomed the brig, &c. for [illegible] dollars; we allowed the boat to take the Captain on shore at Cuba; under a promise that he would return with the money; the unjust agreement of the Spaniards in place of the money sent out a king's schooner of a superior force and captured us; at the time of the capture four of the men got clear in the boat. Honoured Sir, now began the inhuman usage of the cruel Spaniards, cut and strangled to pieces with cutlasses; bound back to back till the blood runs from under our nails we are a present in Cuba jail, on the allowance of this savage nation on half a pint of rice and beans half cooked, for to content the son of Columbia for 24 hours; without clothing or any shelter to hide our nakedness, in Irons strong we,—No friends allowed to see us.

Honoured Sir, we the unhappy petitioners, do humbly beg for the

FRIDAY, MARCH 21.

ABOLITION OF SLAVERY.

The House of Assembly of the state of New York, on Wednesday the 12th inst. in committee of the whole, Mr. Walbridge in the chair, had under consideration the bill for the abolition of slavery within that state; when, after an animated discussion, the question on the clause declaring all negroes, mulattoes and musters within the state, FREE, after the 4th day of July, 1827, was carried in the affirmative, by a large majority.

Mr. Seargeant, who went out for dollars for the mother bank, had arrived in England in a ship from Philadelphia. The price of dollars rose in consequence.—[N. Y. Gazette.

We learn by the Aeolus, arrived at Rhode Island, that Monte Video was closely invested by land & water, and was expected to fall, as the Buenos Ayrean government took no part in the contest. Money was scarce, and it was feared a paper medium would be resorted to by the Congress.—Ib.

Extract of a letter received from Cork by a gentleman in Baltimore, dated

Cork 12th mo 21st, 1816.

"Having addressed the chief secretary for Ireland, suggesting the expediency of the measure, we are this morning enabled to state, from authority, that the law which prohibits the landing of American flour in this kingdom, will be immediately repealed and that flour, as well as meal, will be admitted duty free, from the United States.

BOSTON March 14.

Yesterday the sentence of the law was executed upon Henry Phillips, for the murder of Gaspard Denegri. In the morning he was visited by the Rev. Mr Eaton, who administered to him the Sacrament. He was afterwards attended by the Rev. Mr Lowell, who has regularly visited him. At twelve o'clock he was removed from the jail to the Marshal's room. At one o'clock the melancholy procession moved from the old court house to the place of execution. The sheriff of the county preceded in his carriage. Then followed the prisoner, in a carriage, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Lowell, and Sheriff Bell. Several carriages and an immense concourse of people followed.

A stage and gallows had been erected during the morning, on a lot belonging to the town, on Boston Neck. The procession reached this place a little before two o'clock. After ascending the stage, the Sheriff read the warrant for the execution. A very solemn and appropriate prayer was then made by the Rev. Mr Lowell, in which the prisoner appeared to join with great devotion, and the vast concourse of spectators in profound silence.

The prisoner then handed to the Sheriff a paper, which he requested him to read as containing his dying words. It was a short address to the public, in which he speaks of his life as not having been marked with any remarkable traits of guilt, until the last great act by which his life was forfeited. In committing this he solemnly declares, that he had no intention of taking away the life of Denegri; but that "he imprudently gave the blow without considering at the moment the instrument with which he was about to inflict it or, the fatal consequences that might ensue."

After mentioning a number of circumstances in extenuation of the crime in a manner similar to what is stated in the sketch of his life that has been printed, to which he referred, he proceeded to express his thanks to the court for their humane indulgence and impartiality during his trial and his conviction that the jury decided correctly, according to the law and the evidence. He also thanked the gentlemen of the clergy who had kindly visited him in prison, for their pious instruction and consolation, and the jailor and his assistant, who had treated him with the greatest humanity, and prayed for him a heavenly reward. He also affectionately thanked his council, and those who petitioned the Executive for his pardon. He ended by commending his soul to God, and imploring pardon through the Redeemer.

After the reading of this address, he mounted the moveable platform, the cap was placed over his face, and the rope about his neck.—Then, having first signified a wish to speak, he sung in a distinct and audible voice, a short religious hymn, expressing his resignation, and a confident hope of pardon. In a moment after, he dropped a handkerchief as a signal that he wished no more delay. The platform dropped instantly, and after a faint struggling, he died apparently an easy death.

The prisoner has shown, from the time of receiving his sentence, and particularly during his last moments, a wonderful firmness, aided apparently by the hopes & consolations of religion. The proceedings of the day were conducted with great propriety and regularity, and notwithstanding the immense concourse of spectators, no accident occurred to increase the distress, or disturb the solemnity of the scene.

The following are the lines which were sung by Phillips, a few moments before his execution,

All hail my dear companions!
All hail to you again
You wish to know my station,
And if I'm free from pain.

I'm free from pain and sorrow,
And ev'ry sense of woe,
And happy in my Saviour,
Where pleasures ever flow.

The pleasures of his grace,
Cannot be here reveal'd,
By virtuous dear companions,
My joy you soon shall feel.

From the Middlesex Gazette.

Mr. Peters—The enclosed Poem is founded on the following fact:—

A young lady of good education, amiable disposition and pleasing manners, was seduced from the path of virtue and innocence, by the promise of immediate marriage from her perfidious lover. She bore her fate for some time with fortitude and even resignation; but at length became neglected by her relatives and left dependent on the charity of an unfeeling world for support, she resigned herself to despair, and determined to end her life by poison—As she stretched forth her hand to grasp the cup containing the liquid death, her eye by accident, glanced on a Bible, which lay open on the table—the only book had been opened by her child, which she then held to her bosom asleep. This sentence attracted her attention: —"Daughter, be of good comfort, thy sins are forgiven thee!"—Hope revived in her breast, and the angel of mercy stayed the arm of death.

Sleep on, my babe, thy sleep is calm,
Though pillow'd on pollution's breast;
Sleep on, and sip thy bosom balm
Which lulls thy little woes to rest.

But ah! my babe, thou dost not hear,
The howling storm or rattling hail,
Thou dost not know a mother's fear,
No pangs like hers thy breast assail.

Then sleep thee on, nor wake again
Till she who holds the sleeps in death,
Yes, sleep thee on thy bed of sin,
Till heaven demands thy fleeting breath.

I cannot weep—though tears would blot
For ever blot my sins from Heav'n,
I cannot pray; O heavy lot!
Though angels whisper'd sins forgiven.

Then hail! thou rosy poison, hail?
For thou canst calm this bosom's swell,
Once drank, the world will cease to rail,
Then, O my babe, farewell; farewell!"

She paus'd for lo! before her eye,
The book of heav'n full open lay,
Which her sweet babe; it knew not why,
Had left unclos'd in frolick play.

She read; and while her heart was wrung,
Yet scarcely dar'd to think of heav'n,
A voice pronounc'd; 'twas Mercy tongue.
"Be of good faith: thou art forgiv'n?"

Her babe awoke: a cheerful smile
O'er all its lovely features play'd,
She dashed the cup: sweet peace return'd,
And death's uplifted arm was stay'd

Ordered, that the former collectors who shall fail to settle up their balances on or before the second Monday in April next, be reported by the auditor to the attorney for the corporation, and their respective bonds put in suit.

The act making further appropriations for improving the public square, was read a second time, and, upon motion to fill the blank in the first section with four thousand dollars, the ayes and noes were as follow:

PRINTING,

Neatly executed at the Office of the Alexandria Gazette.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to cary off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and perfectly in It contains nothing but what is constitution. nocent, and is also mild in its operation cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old. should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious n carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face heated and flushed.

Patent Columbian Oil.

In respect to which the Proprietor observes:—

"THE great sales of the Columbian Oil, since it has been brought before the public, prove its intrinsic value. and is a pleasing foreboding of what we have to expect from its more extensive circulation.

Many interesting certificates might be furnished, testifying to the great value of the Columbian Oil, but we have preferred giving but few, wishing to rest more on the merits of the medicine, than on the effects produced by certificates from a source however respectable.

The following are among the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found very efficacious, viz. rheumatism, consumption, gout, pains in any part of the body, but more particularly of the back and breast; asthma, phthisic, influenza, colds, coughs, whooping cough, diseases of the eye and eye lids, toothache, ear ache, and deafness, cholic, cramps, external and internal bruises, sprains and flesh wounds, old sores, ulcers, felons, scalds, burns, mumps, dysentery or flux, croop, quinzy, diarhœa or lax, summer complaint of children, indigestion, loss of appetite, nervous debility, piles, mercurial diseases, especially in those cases where the system has been charged with mercury for some considerable time, and in those excruciating pains subsequent to its too great use and exposure. Herpes, or diseases of the skin, such as ring worms, tetters, scald head, &c. stiffness of joints and limbs, palsy, ague and fever, cholera morbus, gravel, gleetes, obstructed urine, scurvy, and in almost all cases of a general or local nature.

We are aware that in recommending a medicine in so many diseases, the public, especially those who have not used the Oil, may be induced to question its virtues; but a disposition of this nature will soon be dissipated, when they are informed that a great proportion of the diseases owing to the same general cause—And in those cases where the disease differ materially in their nature, the effects produced are nearly the same, although not on the same principle.

A supply of the above just received and for sale by RICHARD H. LITTLE, Druggist, King street.
